

YOUTH WORKERs Questionnaire - RomaniaANALYSIS - Charts

Data collection took place from 12.4.17, 12:37 to 26.5.17, 17:30

Characterization of respondents

A number of 58 questionnaires were applied to young people aged between 17-25, most of the students at two universities in Rm.Valcea. The largest number of respondents has nothing to do with youth work, which shows us that there is still a need for training among young people. The majority of respondents (98%) do not work within NGOs, although 48% responded that they are active in youth work, but probably referred to educational activity. We found that they act as a free-lancer in the non-formal field.

Characterization of a youth worker or respondents

In the problems encountered by young people, the passivity of the NEET group, low wages, geographical difficulties are mentioned. When they try to work with young NEETs, they point out that they do not contribute to their integration because they are passive, non-interested and little interested in their future or their integration or training. In some cases, they are young people who have had poor experiences with formal education and do not believe that the answer to their problems is in education.
